As our new Lead Technical Animator (f/m/d) at Ubisoft Düsseldorf, you will lead, motivate and develop your team of Technical Animators and Technical Artists to push the visual and technical quality to the next level. You will be responsible for developing, supporting and documenting our animation systems, rigging, pipelines and techniques used by the Art, Technical Art and Animation teams. Additionally, you will collaborate closely with the Animation Director, Art Director and other leads to ensure high quality in-game animations that are in line with the artistic vision.

What you will do:

- Build a strong and versatile team of technical experts as part of a AAA development team
- Design, implementation and improvement of our animation state machines and runtime solutions
- Develop, test and maintain complex animation systems in conjunction with animators, gameplay programmers and other team members as required
- Recognize inefficiencies and pipeline issues and identify solutions
- Help improving the tools and pipeline that are used for animation, rigging and implementing of animations in collaboration with our internal engine programmers
- Assist in the design, integration and validation of animation assets
- Guide/Coordinate Animation teams on demanding tasks

What you bring:

- 5 years of experience as senior or lead in a similar role during all stages of a video-game production and at least one shipped AAA title
- Excellent practical understanding of animation logic: node graphs, animation trees and similar engine editors and technologies
- High level expertise of 3D engines and in game engine implementation of animation features, including ragdoll physics

* Experience with character action focused games is a plus
